INTERNATIONAL DIASPORA PAN-AFRICAN CONFERENCE

February 27–March 1, 2026
Greenville, NC

The Diaspora Pan-Africanism International conference will bring Pan-Africanists to engage in a dialogue on Pan-Africanism as they reflect on the past and the future of people of African descent. The DPAC Inc. is a think tank and network of African academics, professionals, civil society leaders, and grassroots leaders within Africa and the African diaspora to advocate and promote the best ideas of the African continent and its people wherever they reside. DPAC's mission is to foster the dignity of Africans and to facilitate a genuine development of Africa through an appreciation of African ideals and intercultural dialogue.

Key to DPAC Inc. is the facilitation of sustained educational programs on Pan-Africans, to promote policy engagements that highlight pan-African ideals and help facilitate the design and sustenance of these ideals. Conferences is one of the ways to dialogue and develop initiatives for project development. Most importantly, DPAC Inc. seeks the celebration of African cultural heritage.

Diaspora Pan-Africanism Center conference will be hosted in collaboration with the Department of Philosophy and Religious Studies, (PRS), the African and African American Studies (AAAS), and other affiliate units at East Carolina University. The conference will be held at East Carolina University, Greenville NC, 27858.
